most collectable artists

"I love the parallels between the artwork—modern abstract expressionism (abstract expressionism being a midcentury movement)—and the home. This project was all about modernizing the midcentury home without losing the essential elements that contribute to its allure. I think the painting, placed in one of the quintessentially midcentury spaces, creates this beautiful parallel between the home and the work of art, both being modern with strong midcentury influence. The feature of a bold, contemporary expressionist painting is the perfect complement to this bold, modernized home."
